The CARNEGIE VILLAGE PROJECT is a community cultural endeavour with VOICE as its focus, particularly the singing voice.

Carnegie Centre's Artist in Residence for 2009, Beverly Dobrinsky, has been conducting meetings with Downtown Eastside community members since last March with the aim of sharing our collective ROOTS, be they family, neighbourhood, culture, tribe, nation, etc. We have gathered a wide range of songs and stories drawing from these diverse ROOTS and have interwoven them to present for performance by local singers and musicians. These performances are a celebration of the richness that we share living together NOW in the CARNEGIE VILLAGE and are the culmination of months of meeting, sharing, listening and singing of over 50 participants.

We invite you to join us for the finale of this remarkable community art project.
